

Another Day In The Life (Song)

Alarm bells ring,
As another day begins in the city.
And everyone makes themselves pretty,
For work.
As they put on their best suit and jackets.
You see,
That's the way they're taught to be.
As they come down for breakfast,
Where Kellogs is waiting
With a table for two.
And he reads the paper,
As she pours the tea.
Yes. That's they way they're taught to be.

Another day in the life of a common man begins.
As alarm bells ring,
The birds start to sing.
Another day in the life of a common man begins.
Where are my shoes, shirt and tie,
Never mind.
A cigarette,
Ah, just the thing.

He rises from the table
And kisses her goodbye.
Not feeling what he's doing
Doesn't know the reason why.
But he's on his way this morning
To his office in the town,
Where he'll earn his daily living,
Just waiting for the weekend
Coming round.
At the end of the day,
He's driving his car,
And joining the traffic,
That stretches just as far
As the eye can see.
Yes that's they way
He's taught to be.

Another day in the life of a common man begins.
As alarm bells ring,
The birds start to sing.
Another day in the life of a common man begins.
Where are my shoes, shirt and tie,
Never mind.
A cigarette,
Ah, just the thing.

She's been out to work this morning,
Cleaned the house this evening.
And as he walks in through the door,
He kisses her.
It's just once more.
He sits down in his easy chair,
And he will eat his dinner there.
Waiting for the late night show
He's seen so many times
So many years ago.
As later on he goes to bed
The thoughts that run right through his head
Yes you can tell he's never free
'Cos that's the way
They're taught to be.

Another day in the life of a common man begins.
As alarm bells ring,
The birds start to sing.
Another day in the life of a common man begins.
Where are my shoes, shirt and tie,
Never mind.
A cigarette,
Ah, just the thing.
